As Director of Government Relations for the American Payroll Association, Alice Jacobsohn is an experienced advocate building bridges between payroll professionals and government legislative and regulatory entities. She has over 30 years of success in high profile policy, regulation, and advocacy roles and has successfully represented constituents in areas of compliance, legislation, regulations, guidance, best practices, cost analyses, and strategic planning. Her professional experience includes influencing policy at the federal, state, and local levels while balancing and protecting the public good through precise legislative testimony, collaborative stakeholder engagement, and by utilizing mediation expertise.

Prior to APA, Ms. Jacobsohn worked as a compliance consultant for private companies assisting with practical approaches to implementing management strategies and business regulations. In addition, she worked for 17 years as a director at the National Waste and Recycling Association developing and implementing educational programs and public relations strategies, managing state chapters and policy-making groups, and lobbying and educating decision-makers. She was a program manager at SEMCOR Inc. advising the U.S. military and private-sector customers on compliance, a staff attorney for a commissioner at the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, and legislative assistant to a Pennsylvania state senator.
